

Blessed or Not

The company you keep is very critical to Me and to your overall success. I will bless you if you do not walk so close as to hear and consider the counsel of the wicked. Why should you consider their advice? I will bless you if you do not stop, stand, and lean against the wall where the sinners normally travel, down the path they regularly take. I will bless you if you do not sit down and join the scoffers in the environments where they normally mock and laugh at all that is good and righteous. Deep in your heart, do you really think it's funny? You become like the company you keep.

The one who avoids these environments, these influences, is the blessed one who finds great delight in what I have written. This blessed one meditates on, soaks and marinates in my written Word consistently day and night. This blessed one will be like a beautiful fruitful tree planted by My clear, nourishing stream of water. They will bear fruit at the proper time. Their leaves will not wither. Whatever they put their hand to will be blessed and will prosper.

But not so for the wicked! Not so for those people I told you to avoid! They will blow away like paper in the wind. They will not be able to stand up in the time of judgment. They certainly will not stand in the gathering of My righteous ones. Because I know intimately the way of My righteous ones. But the course of the wicked, the ones you are to avoid, is destruction! That's where their counsel will lead you!

Blessed or Not

The company you keep is very critical to Me and to your overall success. I will bless you if you do not walk so close as to hear and consider the counsel of the wicked. Why should you consider their advice? I will bless you if you do not stop, stand, and lean against the wall where the sinners normally travel, down the path they regularly take. I will bless you if you do not sit down and join the scoffers in the environments where they normally mock and laugh at all that is good and righteous. Deep in your heart, do you really think it's funny? You become like the company you keep.

The one who avoids these environments, these influences, is the blessed one who finds great delight in what I have written. This blessed one meditates on, soaks and marinates in my written Word consistently day and night. This blessed one will be like a beautiful fruitful tree planted by My clear, nourishing stream of water. They will bear fruit at the proper time. Their leaves will not wither. Whatever they put their hand to will be blessed and will prosper.

But not so for the wicked! Not so for those people I told you to avoid! They will blow away like paper in the wind. They will not be able to stand up in the time of judgment. They certainly will not stand in the gathering of My righteous ones. Because I know intimately the way of My righteous ones. But the course of the wicked, the ones you are to avoid, is destruction! That's where their counsel will lead you!